Exams and Analyzes

This course will require a Midterm Exam and a Final Exam. In addition, students will analyze how Managing Human Resources in fortune 500 Organizations differ from other sectors of other organizations. Also, students will prepare a SWOT analysis of Management in the HR in the 500 Sector. SWOT: Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Threats.

Course Description & Objectives (from Wikipedia)

Human resource management, HRM or simply HR, is a function in organizations designed to maximize employee performance of the employer's strategic objectives. HR is primarily concerned with the management of people within organizations, focusing on policies and systems. HR departments and units in organizations typically undertake a number of activities including employment recruitment, training and development, performance appraisal, and rewarding (e.g., managing pay and benefit systems). HR is also concerned with industrial relations, the balancing of organizational practices with requirements arising from collective bargaining and governmental laws.

Course Activities: In addition to lectures, the instructor will utilize class discussions, in-class activities, case briefs, war stories, possible research assignments and discussions of HRM issues in the media. It is imperative that you be prepared for each and every class meeting.

Seating: If the classroom is large with more seats than needed, sit up front and leave the back empty. No exceptions.

Class Attendance Policy: I expect you to attend class on a regular basis. Your grade is at risk every time you are not in class. If you do not attend, you miss material. If you do not attend, you cannot participate and your participation grade will suffer. If you miss 20 percent or more of the classes, you will automatically receive a grade of incomplete.

Grades: Grades will be computed on the following scale - 90-100 A, 80-89 B, 70-79 C, 60-69 D, 0-59 F.

Exams: There will be 2 exams. Exams will be composed of multiple choice, short answer, and/or application questions. Exams will cover both assigned readings and additional material covered in class. Mid-Term Exam will cover chapter lectures that are completed and information in the syllabus. Final Exam will cover chapter lectures that are completed.

Make-Up Exams: Make-up exams will be given only under highly extenuating circumstances and with prior approval of the instructor. Two conditions must be met to warrant approval: There is an emergency that the student discusses with me before missing the exam, and there is written documentation of the emergency situation requiring an accommodation. Otherwise, the student will receive 0 points for the missed exam.

Participation: An important component of the earning process will center on student participation in the classroom. Students will receive an in-class participation grade for each class meeting. If you are not present, you cannot participate. If you are not prepared, you cannot participate. Remember that it is not just quantity of participation, but the quality of your participation that will determine your participation grade.

Cell Phones & Pagers & Other Disruptive Behaviors: All cell phones and pagers will be turned off during class unless I am notified before class of a possible emergency requiring the devices to be left on (a personal emergency is a sick parent or child, not firming up plans for Friday night). This policy applies to texting, too. Failure to adhere to this policy will result in a warning for the first offense, and a 10-point deduction from your overall participation grade for each subsequent offense. Students who exhibit other disruptive behaviors such as studying or working on assignments for other classes, reading the newspaper, and carrying on distracting conversations with neighbors will be warned and/or asked to leave the classroom.

Moodle: Course documents and materials will be available on Moodle. Please check Moodle on a regular basis. PowerPoint slides and handouts will not be distributed in class, but will be available on Moodle. All course announcements will be posted on Moodle.

Academic Integrity: Academic integrity is fundamental to the process of learning and evaluating academic performance. Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, the following: cheating, plagiarism, tampering with academic record and exams, falsifying identity, and/or being an accessory to acts of academic dishonesty. Refer to the Student Code of Conduct online at <http://www.studentaffairs.uno.edu> for more information.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: It is University policy to provide, on a flexible and individualized basis, reasonable accommodations to students who have disabilities that may affect their ability to participate in course activities or to meet course requirements. Students with disabilities should contact the Office of Disability Services as well as their instructors to discuss their needs for accommodations.
