Student Learning Outcomes

All of the skills to be developed during this course exist on a continuum of learning and the skill of each student reflects the stage at which they find themselves on this continuum. Recognizing that this ensemble includes students from a variety of skill levels, the student learner will:

- Rehearse and prepare for public performances of a variety of musical styles, languages, and tonal techniques.
- Mentor two MUS 1904 students and help teach them their music
- Prepare your part for a solo midterm "Music Check" test
- Prepare two one-page reports on choral music, outline provided at midsemester. One should be from a concert you attended (not our own.)
- Prepare warm-ups to share with the class and execute them on assigned day at the beginning of class.
- Develop, grow, and / or refine the ability to communicate musically
- Develop, grow, and / or refine the ability to respond musically to a conductor and to other members of the ensemble.
- Develop, grow, and / or refine the ability to sing accurately, in tune, and with good vocal technique and diction, including proper breathing technique, vowels, and posture.
- This is both a class and an organization representing the Department of Music and the University of New Orleans. Ensemble members are asked to perform in several concerts both on and off campus. These may include performances at churches, schools, and / or other venues.

Grading and Attendance Policy

The UNO Chorale meets MW from 2:00 p.m. – 3:45 p.m. in PAC 203. Prompt attendance at all rehearsals, dress rehearsals, and concerts is required. Regular attendance is a critical factor in the success of this ensemble and it is the only determining factor in your grade. All absences are unexcused, so use your skips wisely. The only exceptions are University-related business, accompanied by a note from the University Department, and illness, accompanied by a note from the doctor or hospital. If you experience long-term absences caused by extended illness or protracted family problems, please see Prof. Carson. If an emergency situation arises, contact Prof. Carson (and all your UNO professors) by phone or e-mail as soon as you can (Traffic and parking problems are not emergencies). It is your responsibility to provide the proper written documentation.

The daily attendance sign-in sheet will be available at the door. It is your responsibility to initial next to your name to indicate your attendance using the pen / pencil provided. Signing in someone else or asking someone else to sign in your name is considered academic dishonesty and falls under the penalties of UNO's Academic Integrity Policy. See below (in last category).

Grading and Attendance (cont'd)

Grades will be calculated according to the following scales:

Up to 3 absences……..A
4 absences……B
5 absences……C
6 absences……D
7 or more absences……...F

Absence from a dress rehearsal will result in the immediate lowering of your total grade by two letter grades. Absence from a concert performance will result in failure of this course. Weddings, funerals, family or personal emergencies will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. There are few evening commitments for this class. They are on the following Concert / Rehearsal schedule. You are responsible for making arrangements with your employers to have these nights off. This is a course for which you are receiving credit and therefore should be a priority amongst any "outside" or non-academia related activities.

At the end of the semester, a limited number of work opportunities will be available so that you may make up one unexcused absence. 1 to 1 ½ hours of work equals one unexcused absence. You may not make up more than one letter grade, i.e., you cannot fail the course and then work yourself back to an A. This is a relatively low-maintenance class; if you work hard, have a positive attitude, and show up, there is no reason that you should not receive an A.

Concert Dress – Required of all members

Men & Women: performance uniform information and ordering instructions will be given out at all rehearsals during the first week of class. Shoes must be dark (black or brown). No perfume, minimal jewelry. NO tennis shoes.

Materials

Folder: The UNO Chorale uses simple, black 1-inch three-ring binders

Music: The UNO Department of Music will provide copies of the music. It is your responsibility to take proper care of it, bring it to every rehearsal, and return it at the end of the semester. If your music is lost or damaged, you are responsible for the cost of its replacement. Failure to return your music or to make arrangements to pay for lost or damaged music will result in your grade being held.

Pencil: You should bring a pencil (NO PENS!) to every rehearsal so that you may take notes in your music. You should erase your marks before you return your music at the end of the semester.

Physical Contact

Because your instrument is your body, a certain amount of physical contact may be necessary between you and the professor and between you and other members of the class as part of the teaching process. If at any time you become uncomfortable with the manner in which you are being touched, tell the person immediately to stop (even if it's the professor) and inform the professor about the situation at the first available break.

Classroom Conduct

This class is taught in a highly interactive manner, both between you and the professor and between you and the other members of the class, and you are expected to participate fully in all activities. Be in class on time and with all of your materials. Tardies not only negatively affect your learning (and your grade), but the learning of your classmates. There is no excuse for repeatedly arriving late. Please turn off all cell phones. You will be asked to give feedback to your classmates on their progress. Respect and constructive criticism is expected. You may be working with several graduate students for sections or recital requirements at times during the semester. Please be respectful of the different styles of conducting and rehearsal techniques and be aware that you may be part of their learning process. Disrespectful attitudes and actions are not acceptable.

* Academic integrity is fundamental to the process of learning and evaluating academic performance. Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, the following: cheating, plagiarism, tampering with academic records and examinations, falsifying identity, and being an accessory to acts of academic dishonesty. Refer to the Student Code of Conduct for further information. The Code is available online at http://www.studentaffairs.uno.edu.

 ACCOMMODATIONS It is University policy to provide, on a flexible and individualized basis, reasonable accommodations to students who have disabilities that may affect their ability to participate in course activities or to meet course requirements. Students with disabilities should contact the Office of Disability Services as well as their instructors to discuss their individual needs for accommodations. For more information, please go to http://www.ods.uno.edu.
