Abstract

In this paper I discuss process of making a music video for a thesis film after seven years of film school and during a global pandemic. I will mention how with music videos some different rules apply as compared to a narrative film, especially considering the final product is technically client work for the music artist. Additionally, I will go over the post-production process, being that it was my first time incorporating VFX into my workflow. The reflection gives insight to the overall aesthetic and practical choices that went into the final image, how me and Yaszmine the Sun Queen portrayed her persona with “perfume allure” and camp in mind with how she hopes to portray herself and her brand. Lastly, I discuss future hopes and dreams for the future after finishing seven years of film school.

Key Words: Just Chill, Music Video, Musician, Thirst, Summer, Pandemic
Thesis Reflection Paper

I did not start my third year of grad school with the expectations of making a music video for my thesis. Given the circumstances of COVID-19 and the pandemic, my original project had to be completely shelved. My original thesis was going to be a reflective, meditative, atmospheric horror film about mortality and the fear of the uncertainty of death, made in the vein of Lynch, Bresson, and the later works of Paul Schrader. Issue is, especially for that project, I love working with a large crew—I like to have my bases covered. Having a large crew gives me this safety blanket of trust knowing that someone is on set to do their specific job. So when I was given the option to either shelve the project or make it smaller (and in a different location, and with a cast of a different age group, and many other identity changes) I could not stand to waste time on a mutated bastard project.

In hindsight, it was a blessing in disguise. Not to say that making a music video was easier—it had its own set of challenges—but I believe despite being a few drafts in with the script, the script and the story was just not ready. Me and my co-writers and script doctors couldn’t figure it out quick enough either. I think had the pandemic not happened I would’ve been re-writing the script up until the last week of the shoot. Maybe to be a pompous doof and compare myself to Kubrick (which is a silly, arrogant thing to do) I could’ve been re-writing during the shoot “to make the horror more mysterious.”

I don’t know if I’ll ever pick up that project again. It needs a certain mindset to approach it correctly. Originally, I hoped to make it for therapeutic reasons—given it was conceptualized after the death of my paw paw (grandfather). But even after making a music video for my thesis I feel that I have moved on. I don’t necessarily need that project anymore. I’m uncertain if I somewhat make it in the next few years if it could possibly have a life worthwhile other than facing my acknowledgement of its mere existence.

“Just Chill” spawned out of desperation, luck, and perseverance. Those are a weird set of words to put together because they feel unstable, but much like improv I have an unstable flow at times. Laura Medina said something about “putting yourself ahead of luck”—or something along those lines—during a lecture in her production class while I was in undergrad at UNO. I vaguely remember the lecture, but I think the point was about how these “happy accidents” that we hear about on film sets are spawned out of careful preparation that leads to a spawn of adaptable chaos. A planned chaos of some kind. And in a cosmic sense that kind of how “Just Chill” landed on my lap.

My secondary goal in UNO (other than making an epic thesis) was to work on a bunch of sets to harness the craft and let my capabilities be known to others. I want to work for others so they will in turn want to work for me. Sure enough, I’ve worked with Jaszmine Foucha on a few sets in which she was an actress while I was a PA, a grip, a gaffer, etc. But after a few sets in which I was a DP, an AD, and even the Director, it’s known that I’m a capable content creator (at least at the low-budget level). Either way, when I needed to cast a bit supporting character for my cousin’s 3-page short, I was able to just call up Jaszmine and she jumped for the opportunity. It was there during lunch on the shoot that she then mentions that she was in search of a director for a music video. Fate, controlled chaos, whatever, I was somehow ahead of luck enough to seemingly have a project fall on my lap after losing my original thesis to COVID-19.
“Just Chill” is a project of turning lemons into lemonade. I strived to make a COVID compliant project with two characters and minimal crew. Given the two characters, I aimed to elevate the narrative of the video and bump up the production design. The story of Justin imaging Yaszmire the Sun Queen on a hot summer’s day feeds into my hopes to use editing & production design as my main driving forces for the piece’s production value.

In my prospectus I proposed using VFX to exaggerate moments and moods throughout the film, such as it gets so hot that things melt around the kitchen or Yaszmire is always on Justin’s mind that she even appears on TV or in a thought bubble. Those effects were made thanks to the help of the VFX artist and colorist, Justin DeLong, from FotoKem. For the most part, I believe the effects work. If I had more time and resources however, I’d probably try to tweak it some more to make the melting more stylized and realistic at the same time. It sounds crazy, but there was this texture I was aiming for and I think what I have is just off the mark, but still great enough to work. It’s a situation that David F Sandberg would say, “It’s good enough.”

To the standards of friends, family, and most importantly Jaszmine, the effects will be just fine. After the video’s release I’ll send out a questionnaire for feedback. I’ll take notes and add their responses to the paper. During the picture lock test screening, the responses were as unpredictable and “fine” as one could expect. A chunk of the answers were “Thanks, I love it” and others were like, “I hate music videos.” I had one screen tester critique the narrative saying that the story doesn’t make sense. They claimed that being the year 2021, it’s highly unlikely one would have issues with heat or broken ACs. The same person said the dance sequence was sudden, unnecessary, and silly. I find this amusing since by adding animation, I’m doubling down on the fantastical elements of the dance sequence. I hope people appreciate and enjoy the sequence, but I do have a concern that the sequence does not have build-up to make the animation feel more at home. Had I better planned the animated sequence or dance sequence, I could’ve maybe implemented animation throughout, or better yet made the whole dance sequence animated. I just wish the song was longer, so I’d have more wiggle room for the sequence.

Given how much of a bummer 2020 was, me and Jaszmine discussed early on the potential of not making a dramatic music video. Lyrically, the song “Just Chill” seems to reflect on a forbidden love of some kind. It mentions a parental figure constantly calling the singer’s phone, questioning her whereabouts, insinuating that the singer and their lover shouldn’t be together even though she wants to spend more time at the lover’s house and “chill.” Like, a first instinct idea would be dramatizing the lyrics and developing a story with a cast of characters following this Romeo & Juliet story, but that’s too obvious and too many actors for a COVID safe set.

I heard somewhere the idea of rejecting your first three ideas because the first three ideas tend to be the worst or most obvious ideas. That’s cool advice, and I try to follow it half of the time. I think the current video’s storyline was my third idea, so I’m cheating a little bit, but given the one month I had to completely rebuild my thesis project I had little time to come up with a fourth idea. In hindsight it was an amusing challenge I set on myself of changing the project but not changing the shoot dates.

Going with a more lighthearted approach—a stark one-eighty from the original thesis—we reminded ourselves that we had a line to walk. We’re not just making a video; we’re selling a brand: Yaszmine the Sun Queen. We had options when it came to approaching the aesthetic and character of Yaszmine. On one hand Yaszmine is sexy & alluring, but she also has room for cutesy & campy. We wanted to achieve this certain allure & sexiness without relying on an oversexualization of Yaszmine’s character. We quickly came to the consensus that a hypersexualized character might be a bit much and wanted to steer around that design. The secondary reasoning behind avoiding hypersexuality is that our respective parents would watch this. Jaszmine and I both had a laugh at the idea of her mom or my mom watching her trying to replicate a late 2010s Miley Cyrus or Nicki Minaj. So with this in mind, Yaszmine is a tad more like Katy Perry in “California Girls" than Madonna or Beyonce.

Knowing to take this middle lane approach to the character, I conceived a story idea that is essentially just a long sex joke on the slang term “thirsty.” The term refers to when one desperately seeks out someone or something, generally for sexual release. (Although to be fair one could use it as an exaggeration and say something like, “Wow, I’m thirsting over this Korean Barbeque right now.) I must say, by golly, it went exactly as I expected it to go. I wanted the joke to be quite subliminal and subtle. Looking back, I can’t tell if I made it too subtle or not subtle enough. There’s some phallic imagery throughout—such as the slow motion of the water hose and the plumbing tools getting bigger and bigger—but overall, the joke is more metaphorical & obscurely contextual than it is up front. This stems from the fact that the story of the video is essentially that Justin is “thirsty” for Yaszmine. Even in our promos I have the phrase “Thirsty?” pop up really quickly, and it pops up in the background of a shot in the video. I use a quick shot of Yaszmine drinking water when Justin stands frustrated at the sink. By doing this, I’m attempting to pop in the idea of Justin’s thirst over Yaszmine.
I hope to get it into the viewer’s mind without shaking them by the head and screaming, “Get it? Get it?” I enjoy subtle visual gags like that, especially ones that people notice after multiple viewings. Think something like the visual humor of BoJack Horseman. Alas, I don’t think this video is nearly as cram packed with visual references and gags as BoJack Horseman. After finishing the picture lock, I recently watched the video for “911” by Lady Gaga. Within it are a laundry list of visual references and symbols that tell a story without being so obvious while inviting the viewer to watch again.

I hope to get to that level, and I wish this video could be at this level, but I don’t think the “Just Chill” video is that sophisticated. Again, I don’t know if I should’ve been a bit more blatant with the idea to make the joke less subtle or if the subtlety is the gentle amusement with itself. I know my mom is not going to get it and I find that hysterical. It’s as if I kind of as if I get the best of both worlds in this scenario, is wholesome PG Disney fun that my mom can enjoy, but I get to make a sex joke in the process, and poking fun with the expectations of hypersexual imagery in music video media.

From the beginning I wrote the script with the goal of learning some aspects of VFX in mind. Knowing that my knowledge of VFX going into the project was slim, this project was designed to be a fun lesson plan of figuring out what I can do practically and with VFX. Much of the video’s effects are achieved with special effects or clever production design. While some key shots were planned all along to be VFX shots, they were simple entry level VFX that wouldn’t break the video if we took them out in case the visual effect didn’t work out. Even still, there were some effects in the video—such as the melting objects—that we hoped and tried to do practically. Those ultimately got canned and received the note of “fix it in post.” As much as I hate saying that phrase on set, we said it a few times on this shoot. I feel a key difference between this context and when I heard it on other shoots is that I and my team were taking a calculated risk with contingency plans in place. Other “fix it post” types were ignorant know-nothings.

With this VFX exercise underway, I’ve received a great introduction into visual effects and other post-production tools. I was adamantly against VFX, CGI, green screen, and the like going into grad school—sort of thinking myself a purist like Nolan or Tarantino. I look at my 2018 self and blush—he was pure kino. While I haven’t learned how to make items that didn’t melt on screen suddenly melt, nor have I figured out a complex screen comp in a moving shot, I learned part of the workflow of working with VFX artists. I know some other indie or DIY filmmakers would maybe chuckle at my expense of not figuring out to do these things myself for free. I would argue against them that it’s equally important to learn how much those jobs are worth and how to talk to the technicians and artists doing those jobs. Given that I aim to not be the one-man-crew filmmaker (seriously, to hell with that noise), it is vital I learn to deal with all the various positions in the production line.

Another learning experience revolves around the assumption of not needing audio when shooting a music video. Given that the final product was just going to have the music track playing over the image, I presumptuously asked for the sound mixer to not come to set for a bulk of the shoot, since most of it was MOS. On set lip syncing consisted of Jaszmine singing along with the song played over the speakers. Where the idea gets a little muddled is in post when I need to line up the song with Jaszmine’s lips. The RED camera does not have scratch audio, nor could we figure out how to plug a shotgun mic into it. There was probably a way, but we couldn’t figure it out. In the end, however, I used an old editing trick to help line up the lips, but it was a tad tedious. If I could’ve had scratch audio that would have been great for post-production. I am on the fence on whether bringing in the sound mixer would’ve been necessary for those shots. I believe more-so not because it would’ve slowed down production. Looking at the final product, it all came out fine anyway.

Another learning experience was that set space dramatically affects production design and set decoration. Even though the soundstage that we rented is a modestly sized space I feel that the rain dance scene, specifically, lacked set decoration. Not to say that the idea for the scene was bad, or that those clouds and streamers were lackluster, but I believe that we didn’t have enough streamers or clouds. That’s one of the reasons I believe I needed to get the scene extra attention in post via a VFX artist. It’s a little disappointing, but not the end of the world. It’s one of those situations in which in pre-production we’re convinced it will work out but discover when watching the cuts that something is a little off. That said, like baking a brownie with the wrong oil, it looks a little different or tastes a little different but it’s still a brownie. The final scene still came out usable, but it’s definitely an example of how easy it is to have a discrepancy amongst what one plans and what one achieves.

One issue that I ran into was that the dance sequence that we executed was actually way too long for the video, so I couldn’t keep most of it. The original ending to the dance sequence was supposed to have Justin dip Yaszmine down and they both give a wink to the audience. I must add that framing Yaszmine’s dip just right took a long time to get just right and I felt embarrassed having to have her dip more than four times, because—as one can imagine—that dance move is a bit dizzying when done repetitively. If I could re-do this, I’d probably collaborate with the choreographer to come up with something a touch shorter so that much of the sequence wouldn’t need to be cut.

I must also add that cutting down the sequence led to unmotivated and not well executed jump cuts. In response I devised a plan to animate in some quick inserts. Something similar to how they’re done in Moonrise Kingdom or A Clockwork Orange. I’ve seen films throw in the briefest of inserts that leave a great impact despite their brevity. An issue I had was that the one animator I knew at UNO wasn’t up to snuff with what I needed for the sequence. Like any film student desperate for help, I posted an ad on Facebook. And like someone with little experience in hiring people for money, I accepted the first person to respond to the ad. Big mistake. This person said that they were a professional animator with a cartoon on TV, but the work they gave me was not good. Then the person they recommended from their TV show was also not good. The awkward thing about these situations is that we discussed rates at the beginning, but at no point did I ever mention a contingency of what if I don’t like their material. I paid them $300 for three shots of animation. The idea that I was trying to get through to them was I needed quick and simple movement & design. While I still think the idea might’ve still worked if given time and effort, I know that these two animators were not capable of achieving what the idea needed. We went through three rounds of revisions, but each draft didn’t feel any more different than the draft before. I ultimately paid them for their time and moved on.

In hindsight, I wish I had asked for a portfolio. They did show me a trailer for their cartoon. I must admit, it was not good. The character design looks cheap and the movement is stiff. That alone should have been enough for me to pass, but I was afraid of just not finding another animator. Fear shouldn’t be a leading motivator in accepting bad work. In some sort of denial, I tried to make it work, but it couldn’t. Naturally, my anxiety that led me to moving forward with them was unnecessary because hours after accepting the first cartoonists, I got a response from an animator from Lafayette. His portfolio was phenomenal. His work is what ultimately comes into the film during the dance sequence. The style that we landed on came through several conversations, ultimately based on the art style of the poster artist—a high school friend of mine. Getting to the point of where I would have done things differently, I wish I would’ve passed on the first cartoonists that answered my ad, and just went with the animator from Lafayette instead.

One note about the animation that’s in the music video now is that it is a little brief. Usually, music videos with an animated sequence near the end like this would have a thirty second or longer sequence. Mine is about ten seconds. Another note is that it would be cool if the animation was maybe throughout the video if that final one was so brief. I don’t necessarily believe that the music video is missing a soul because of this, but it’s definitely a moment of hindsight 20/20. There’s no way that the video could’ve had animation throughout if I had not initially planned for it. However, the necessity of the animation stemmed through mistakes made during the execution and editing of the final dance sequence. If anything, this sequence serves as an example of how I made a mistake during the filming process that got fixed in post by placing something else over it. Is it cool? Does it work? I think so. Could I have done this a little smoother and made some decisions that would have saved me money? Most definitely.

In my paper that I wrote when applying to the program, I said that within three years I wanted to be a one-man film crew like James Roe (while having a thesis film that could maybe compete against his thesis—sorry, a little vain there). Thanks to Covid-19, I don’t think I got an opportunity to make a thesis near in scope like his, but I believe that this music video stands a touch above low budget music videos made for small and/or music artists like I have seen before.

That said, within three years I feel like I haven’t achieved that one-man film crew status. I feel that I have an understanding of each position that if put in a pinch I could maybe do it myself after some preparation, but more importantly, I understand now how to communicate, direct, and manage expectations with various positions of a film crew. Arguably that’s more important in a collaborative medium like film than being the one-man film crew. I’ve met several self-proclaimed one-man-army type filmmakers. In my opinion they tend to be jacks of all trades and masters of none, but also an arrogant pain to work with. I think I’ve learned that I must recognize my limitations, but also recognize the perspective of those working with me on set. In my experience, some of the most frequent complaints of other crew members stem from a lack of understanding of another department; like a hairstylist not understanding the camera department or production department not understanding the perspective of the sound mixer.

One cannot simply become a master filmmaker after three years of film school, but after seven years of film school one can have a large film diary on Letterboxd. I don’t think that lectures, papers, and textbooks alone could prepare me for the film industry, but seven years of film school most definitely sparked an inquisitive drive to learn more about film. Whenever I was not at school, I was at home watching YouTube tutorials and movies. Film school—through the taste of its staff and students—and a diverse option of streaming options (and piracy) opened my view of cinema. It was within the last seven years that I matured from a high schooler quoting Tarantino and New Hollywood Age gangster flicks to a 25-year-old thinking about the implications of wardrobe choice in a movie on the film’s perception of class and society.

While I feel I’ve grown as a filmmaker on a technical and proficient level—and evolved my taste in film—within the last seven years, I have this lingering anxiety that I have not lived enough life to nurture a perspective worth sharing through film or visual media. I graduated high school and went straight to film school, then graduated film school to immediately move on to graduate school. I sometimes sit there, reflecting on the first 25 years of my life realizing it was driven by thinking of the next step, graduating to the next level of education. Now that I’m at this point in which there is no next step other than the rest of my life, now definitely out of school, I feel a tinge of anxiety and existential dread. That anxiety’s not too depressing, it’s more of the absurdist “Nothing Matters” embrace of chaos that my generation often makes memes about. My goal after film school—other than to get steady work—is to explore these absurdist themes in and out of film. I feel attracted to the surreal of reality and this lingering anxiety of modern society. I think of this image from Satoshi Kon’s Paranoia Agent of a man in a business suit falling headfirst from the sky with a huge grin on his face and a gut-busting laugh shaking his torso. The message of that image is something that I hope to fully understand and lay out into the screen. I hope to blend tragedy and comedy with the skill of Wes Anderson and maybe use a lens of magical realism like Guillermo del Toro, or delve into the surreal like David Lynch. I know that early in a filmmaker’s career they tend to wear their influences on their sleeves. I’m aware that my influences might feel obvious, and sometimes I feel like a thief, but that’s not necessarily bad. It’s part of the long process. Like any other filmmaker, the goal is for my artistic voice to become as distinct as my thumbprint. Music videos are definitely a facet of film that I hope to continue to harness my craft, like Spike Jonze and David Fincher. Like them, I hope to progress past that and ultimately work in narrative features. Stylistically I’d love to focus on dark comedies or surreal dramas. I’ve been told that my films can be campy but definitely have a quality a touch higher than usual camp. That might be something I’ll play with in the future.

2. EXT. HOUSE LAWN – DAY

THE SUN beams excruciating heat over a green lawn.
JUSTIN’S HAND yanks on the starting cable of a LAWN MOWER.
We get close-up shots of his arm, back, his forehead—all covered in sweat as he tries to start the lawn mower.

Extreme Close-Up shots of a glass of PINK LEMONADE. A WOMAN’S HAND lifts we.

3. EXT. BACKYARD – MOMENTS LATER

Justin grabs a water hose and turns the facet.
Yaz now soaks in a small kiddie pool.

Water bursts out from the pipe and shoots out of the end of the hose.

[Intro Music]

We’ve been chilling all night long till the morning come.
And I’m wondering what’s left for us
Nothing but some cool champagne

As the smooth jazz plays
And I’m twirling on your soft brown locks

Baby you’re a king, I know
Fingers on my toes

As I laugh begging you to stop
But boy you don’t let up
I hope we never have to get up

Cuz I just want to chill
All day stay
Laid up with you here

| Water rains down on Yaz as she sings to camera. | Sweet nothing I just want to chill I just want to chill |

Justin holds a glass under the tap. He turns the faucet, but nothing comes out. Justin looks up and forward with slight frustration.

down, Yaz hand enters frame with another tool for Justin to grab ahold of.

7. INT. KITCHEN – CONTINUOUS

Yaz lies on her side hold tools and passing them to Justin. She’s dressed kinda like a plumber. Singing towards camera.

Laid up with you here
No games
Whisper in my ear

8. INT. KITCHEN – MOMENTS LATER

Justin hops up and holds a cup under the tap. He turns the nob, but no water comes out.

A sigh of disappointment.

Lied nothing
I just want to chill
I just want to chill

9. INT. KITCHEN – MOMENTS LATER

Justin, phone to his ear. Circles the room.

JUSTIN: Yes. I need someone to come in and fix my sink. No water’s coming out of it.

PLUMBER: Sorry, sir. But we’re all backed up today. Best we can do is send someone tomorrow.

JUSTIN: No no no no you don’t what I’m getting at. I need this done right now.

PLUMBER: I get that, but with our people stretched out at this moment---

JUSTIN: Bro. I’m telling you though. I’m dying out here. You don’t---

A frizzy commotion comes from across the room. Justin turns his attention to the noise.

The AC stops running. We see the streamers attached to its vent fall idly out of the air.

[PAUSE MUSIC]
As the song reaches its end, Justin in pure bliss...

Dissolve to:

13. EXT. LAWN – DAY

Justin dazed on the ground, hallucinating his watery nirvana in the front yard. He mutters some incoherent nonsense.

A stream of water pours onto his face. He wakes up, gasping.

JUSTIN: Wha-wha—What?

He looks up to see Jazmine standing over him with a freshly empty bottle of water.

JAZMINE: What the heck are you doing out in the front yard? You trying to get yourself a heatstroke. You’re ridiculous—

As Jazmine chastises Justin he notices the water bottle. He jumps up and snatches it from her. Exasperated, he holds the bottle over his open mouth.

He extends his tongue out in hopes that a drop of water lands on him.

Jazmine stares at him with her arms crossed. She rolls her eyes.

JAZMINE: You’re something else, you know that?

Crane out then roll credits.

This Agreement (the "Lease") is made and entered into as of September 8, 2020 by and between Panavision International, L.P. ("Panavision"), a Delaware limited partnership, having a place of business at 6101 Variel Avenue, Woodland Hills, California 91367 and University of New Orleans ("Lessee") having its place of business at 200 Lakeshore Drive, New Orleans, LA 70148.

RECITALS

Lessee desires to lease from Panavision certain cinematography equipment and accessories owned or leased by Panavision (the "Equipment") for the production of a visual and/or audiovisual program or series (the "Project"), as specified in Exhibit A to this Lease.

Panavision is willing to rent the Equipment to Lessee upon the terms and conditions set forth in this Lease.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the recitals above and the terms, conditions and covenants set forth below, the parties agree as follows:

1. Conditions Precedent. Panavision’s obligations pursuant to this Lease shall be subject to the satisfaction of the following conditions: (i) Lessee’s lease of the Equipment has a lease period of one year or less; and (ii) Lessee’s payment to Panavision of a deposit, if any, required hereunder.

2. Term; Location. The term of this Lease (the “Term”) shall be the duration of the Project stated in Exhibit A. Lessee shall use the Equipment only in the location(s) specified in Exhibit A.

3. Rent; Taxes.

3.1. Rent. Lessee shall pay Panavision rent ("Rent") at the rates set forth on Exhibit A. Rent shall be paid to Panavision in United States dollars, without abatement, deduction or set-off, no later than thirty (30) days after the date of Panavision’s invoice to Lessee. Past due amounts shall bear interest at the rate of 1½% per month or the maximum amount of interest permitted by law, whichever is less, which shall be calculated from the invoice date. In the event that Lessee fails to pay Rent when due, Lessee shall be liable for all out-of-pocket costs incurred by Panavision in collecting such amounts, including but not limited to reasonable outside attorneys’ fees and expenses. Panavision shall be entitled to set-off amounts due from Panavision to Lessee with amounts due from Lessee to Panavision.

3.2. Taxes. Lessee will be solely responsible for any and all taxes, transportation charges, duties, broker fees, bond, and all other costs arising out of Lessee’s rental and/or use of the Equipment or otherwise resulting from this Agreement.

4. Equipment.

4.1. Delivery of Equipment. Panavision will use commercially reasonable efforts to supply Lessee with the Equipment requested by Lessee, subject to its availability. Lessee or its agent shall pick up all Equipment at the Panavision location from which Lessee is obtaining the Equipment ("Panavision’s Place of Business"), except that Panavision will, at Lessee’s request, cause the Equipment to be shipped to a location designated by Lessee, but in either case “Delivery" (including for the purposes of risk of loss) of the Equipment to Lessee shall be deemed to have taken place when the Equipment is placed on the vehicle or with a carrier which is to take it from Panavision’s Place of Business to the Lessee’s specified location ("Delivery"). Panavision shall provide with each Delivery of Equipment to Lessee a Delivery Receipt that shall itemize the Equipment delivered. The Delivery Receipt shall be conclusive evidence that the listed Equipment was delivered and in good condition and working order unless Lessee notifies Panavision otherwise in writing, not later than three (3) business days following Delivery. All risks of loss or damage shall be borne by Lessee from Delivery of Equipment until the Equipment is returned to Panavision pursuant to Section 4.3.

4.2. Shipping Non-Panavision Owned Material. Lessee acknowledges that Panavision will not ship or accept delivery of equipment or materials other than the Equipment. Lessee agrees not to ship or request that Panavision ship or accept delivery of any equipment other than the Equipment, including but not limited to canned air (e.g., "Dust-Off") or similar products with the Equipment.

4.3. Return of Equipment. Lessee shall return the Equipment at Lessee’s expense to Panavision’s Place of Business. Rent shall continue to accrue until the Equipment is returned, unless otherwise agreed between the parties, or in the event of a Loss of the Equipment, which shall be governed by Section 10 below. Panavision shall use commercially reasonable efforts to extend the Term on Lessee’s request (e.g., for additional photography, added scenes or "pick-up" shots), subject to other needs for the Equipment as determined by Panavision in its sole discretion. Rent shall continue to accrue during any such extended period. The Equipment shall be returned to Panavision in the same condition as when received by Lessee, subject to reasonable wear and tear.

4.4. Compliance with Laws. The Lessee will, at all times during this Lease, comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations relating to the use, shipping, handling or transport of the Equipment including, but not limited to all environmental, occupational health and safety or other such laws, rules and regulations.

5. Use of Equipment. Lessee shall not use the Equipment for any purpose other than image capture for the Project and matters relating thereto (e.g., as tests, titles, added scenes, retakes and trailers). Lessee will not lend, sublet, pledge, or otherwise dispose of or encumber the Equipment, or permit anyone other than Lessee, persons under Lessee’s direction and control, or Panavision to have possession of, use, examine or evaluate the Equipment. Lessee will not modify or disassemble the Equipment, except for the purpose of normal cleaning and maintenance in accordance with Section 7 below. Lessee shall not attach anything to the Equipment by any means that causes damage to the Equipment.

6. Inspection. Panavision shall have the right to inspect the Equipment or observe its use provided that Panavision has given Lessee not less than one (1) day’s notice and such inspection is conducted during normal business hours at Panavision’s own expense and does not interfere with the production of the Project.

7. Maintenance and Repairs.

7.1. Maintenance: Repair Procedures. Normal cleaning of Equipment (including cleaning and oiling movements, cleaning lenses and filters, and general maintenance), replacing and cleaning ground glass, and basic troubleshooting (including swapping fuses and removable circuit-boards) (collectively, "Normal Cleaning and Maintenance") shall be done by Lessee at its cost and shall only be performed by persons who have been provided explicit maintenance and service instruction by Panavision. If the required repairs exceed Normal Cleaning and Maintenance, Panavision shall make such repairs, provided that Lessee returns such Equipment to Panavision’s Place of Business, unless Panavision determines that such repairs may be carried out at the location where the Equipment is being used, in which case Panavision may send a technician to such location for that purpose at Lessee’s request and sole cost and expense. Panavision shall make such repairs or to replace the Equipment as promptly as reasonably practicable.

7.2. Panavision Covered Repairs: Other Repairs. The cost of repairs or replacement resulting from reasonable wear and tear, or from any defect in the Equipment (the "Panavision Covered Repairs") shall not be charged to Lessee and, with respect to Panavision Covered Repairs, Lessee shall not be responsible for transportation costs for sending the Equipment back to Panavision’s Place of Business nor for Rent for such Equipment during the period it is being repaired or until it is replaced ("Repair Transport and Rent"); however, Lessee shall still bear the risk of loss during such period. Repairs or replacement costs resulting from any other cause, including, without limitation, misuse, accident or abuse of the Equipment shall be charged to Lessee, including Repair Transport and Rent, even if after expiry of the Term.

8. Credit.

8.1. On-Screen. Provided that the Project is photographed principally with Panavision’s cameras and/or lenses, Lessee shall give Panavision credit on all Positive Prints (defined below) of the Project as follows: (i) where the format is Anamorphic, as set forth in Exhibit B-1; or (ii) where the format is any other format, as set forth in Exhibit B-2. Panavision’s credit shall not be less favorable in size, height, width and prominence than the credit accorded to any other technical credit (including, without limitation, color, laboratory, sound and equipment supplier credits, and excluding only credits accorded to suppliers of visual effects, e.g. Industrial Light and Magic). As used herein, "Positive Prints" shall include all formats, manner and media in which the Project is distributed, exhibited, disseminated or otherwise exploited, including, without limitation, by means of negative film stock and all forms of digital media.

8.2. Television Only. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in Section 8.1 above, if the Project is produced for initial exhibition on television, and Lessee does not anticipate a theatrical release, Panavision will accept a one line credit in the end titles of each episode as follows (as applicable): FILMED WITH PANAVISION® CAMERAS & LENSES, where the word “PANAVISION” is presented in our standard credit type set as set forth in Exhibit B-3. If the Project is produced for network television, Lessee shall be relieved of the obligation to accord Panavision credit if the Project does not accord any Technical Credits.

8.3. Third-Party Credit Obligations.
Lessee shall use its reasonable commercial efforts to ensure that all third-party distributor(s) of the Project comply with Lessee’s credit obligations under this Section 8 and to include such provisions in Lessee’s agreements with such third parties; provided, however, that so long as Lessee has exerted such reasonable commercial efforts, failure of such third parties to comply with Sections 8.1 and 8.2 of this lease, shall not constitute a material breach of this Lease.

8.4. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, Panavision is licensed to use a short clip not to exceed 30 seconds for promotional and other purposes.

9. Title. This Lease is a contract of lease only, and nothing herein shall be construed as conveying to Lessee any right, title or interest, other than a temporary leasehold interest, in or to any Equipment or in or to any other property of Panavision, including but not limited to, Panavision trademarks, trade names or patents. Panavision may, but shall not be required to, identify the Equipment to indicate Panavision’s ownership by nameplate or other means, and Lessee agrees not to remove or deface such identification.

10. Loss or Damage.

10.1. Loss. In the event that any of the Equipment is lost (in whole or in part), stolen or otherwise missing, or is destroyed, or is damaged beyond repair from the time of its Delivery to Lessee pursuant to Section 4.1 until its return to Panavision, pursuant to Section 4.3, Lessee shall pay Panavision within sixty (60) days after the occurrence of such event (hereinafter called the “Loss” and such Equipment, “Lost Equipment”) the amount of the insured value of such Equipment. The insured value of the Equipment shall be the greater of replacement cost (without deduction for depreciation) or the insurance value set forth on Exhibit A to this Lease; provided, however, that the insurance values on Exhibit A may be updated from time to time, at Panavision’s reasonable discretion. Notwithstanding any such payment, Panavision shall retain title to such Equipment in all circumstances. Lessee shall continue to pay Rent for such Equipment until the later of the end of the Term and the date Lessee pays the insured value to Panavision.

10.2. Recovery. If Lost Equipment is recovered, it shall be returned to Panavision immediately following its recovery, and, if Lessee has paid Panavision the insured value of such Equipment, Panavision shall refund a portion of the amount paid, unless the Equipment has been damaged beyond repair and provided that the amount of the refund, if any, shall be determined by Panavision in its reasonable and good faith discretion, taking into consideration the condition, obsolescence and value, if any, of the Equipment.

11. Insurance.

11.1. General. Lessee shall, at its expense, obtain and maintain in full force and effect insurance in compliance with Section 11.2 covering any and all liability, claims, demands, actions, causes of action, loss, costs, damage and expenses arising out of or based upon the use or possession of the Equipment or the present or future fitness, quality, design, condition, repair, merchantability, functioning, performance or malfunctioning of the Equipment, or its material or workmanship, no matter how caused or occasioned, but excluding gross negligence or willful misconduct of Panavision, its officers, directors, employees, agents, or representatives. Such insurance shall be written by reputable insurance carriers maintaining an AM Best Rating of A- and financial size 5. Lessee’s insurers must be the primary insurers of the Equipment during the Term and coverage shall be written on a non-contributory basis. Prior to delivery of the Equipment, the Lessee shall provide to Panavision valid certificates of insurance complying with Section 11.2. Lessee shall provide Panavision at least 30 days prior notice of any proposed modification, alteration or cancellation of any such insurance. Notwithstanding anything else in this Section 11, Lessee shall remain primarily liable to Panavision pursuant to the provisions of Section 10 above, and Panavision may enforce its remedies hereunder directly against Lessee without proceeding against the insurer.

12. Events of Default. It shall constitute an event of default under this Lease if (i) Lessee shall fail to perform any material term, condition or agreement set forth herein and, to the extent such breach or failure is reasonably subject to cure, such failure shall continue for ten (10) days or more without cure after the earlier of Lessee’s knowledge thereof or written notice thereof is given to Lessee by Panavision; (ii) Lessee shall become insolvent or shall cease to conduct its business as a going concern, or shall apply for or consent to otherwise obtain the appointment of a receiver, trustee or liquidator of Lessee or of a substantial part of the assets of Lessee, or if a petition is filed by or against Lessee under the Bankruptcy Code, or under any other insolvency law, or if Lessee makes an assignment for the benefit of creditors, and any such action is not dismissed or vacated within thirty (30) days; (iii) notwithstanding (i) above, Lessee fails to maintain insurance in accordance with Section 11 or fails to pay Rent when due unless cured on one (1) day’s written notice to Lessee; or (iv) Lessee makes improper or illegal use of the Equipment.

13. Remedies.

13.1. In the event of any event of default by Lessee hereunder Panavision shall have at its sole option any one or more of the following rights and remedies:

13.1.a. Panavision may retain all prior payments of Rent and, from Lessee’s account, shall be entitled to immediate payment of all accrued and unpaid Rent and other payments, if any, and Lessee agrees to pay such amounts immediately upon such demand.

13.1.b. Panavision may immediately terminate Lessee’s right of possession and use of the Equipment. In such event, Lessee shall immediately return the Equipment to Panavision, or Panavision may, at Lessee’s expense, enter into any premises where the Equipment may be located and repossess the Equipment.

13.1.c. Panavision may pursue any other remedy available to Panavision at law or in equity including, without limitation, specific performance or repossession, if appropriate. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary set forth herein, Panavision agrees that it will not seek to enjoin, restrain or interfere with the advertising, publicizing, distribution, exhibition or exploitation of the Project and the ancillary and subsidiary rights in and to the Project in the event that Lessee is in default or breach of its obligations under the Lease.

13.2. No right or remedy set forth in this Section 13 or reserved to Panavision is exclusive of any other right or remedy now or hereafter available at law or in equity; each such right and remedy may be enforced concurrently with any other right or remedy. No waiver of any breach or event of default shall constitute a waiver of any other default on any subsequent occasion.

14. Exemption From Liability: Indemnity. Lessee acknowledges (i) that the loss that may occur to Lessee by reason of faulty Equipment or a malfunction of Equipment could far exceed the rental price for the Equipment and that it is not economically feasible for Panavision to assume responsibility for such loss (e.g., out of focus shots, scratched film, incorrectly exposed negative) and, (ii) accordingly, that Panavision shall bear no liability for such loss. In addition, if any Equipment is returned to Panavision still containing any of the visual or audiovisual content of the Project, Panavision shall have no obligation or liability for taking, or failing to take, any action with respect to such content, including without limitation, maintaining or safeguarding such content or its confidentiality or delivering it to Lessee. The Lessee expressly agrees to the additional terms set forth in Exhibit C attached hereto.

14.1. NO WARRANTY BY PANAVISION. PANAVISION MAKES NO REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY WHATSOEVER EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, WITH RESPECT TO THE EQUIPMENT, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, THE FITNESS, QUALITY, DESIGN, CONDITION, REPAIR, MERCHANTABILITY, FUNCTIONING, PERFORMANCE OR MALFUNCTIONING OF THE EQUIPMENT, OR OF ITS MATERIAL OR WORKMANSHIP. PANAVISION’S OBLIGATIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE EQUIPMENT ARE LIMITED TO THE OBLIGATIONS PROVIDED FOR IN SECTIONS 4.1, 7.1, 7.2 AND 10.2 ABOVE. LESSEE EXPRESSLY ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT PANAVISION SHALL NOT BE LIABLE FOR ANY INDIRECT, INCIDENTAL, SPECIAL, CONSEQUENTIAL OR EXEMPLARY DAMAGES, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF PROFITS, USE, OR OTHER LOSSES RESULTING FROM THE FITNESS, QUALITY, DESIGN, CONDITION, REPAIR, MERCHANTABILITY, FUNCTIONING, PERFORMANCE OR MALFUNCTIONING OF THE EQUIPMENT, OR OF ITS MATERIAL OR WORKMANSHIP.

14.2. Lessee’s Indemnification Obligations. Lessee waives, releases and agrees to defend, indemnify and hold harmless Panavision, its affiliates and related companies and each of their respective officers, directors, employees, shareholders, agents, representatives, insurance carriers, successors, licensees, and assigns, and each of them, from any liability, claims, rights of subrogation, demands, actions, causes of action, losses, costs, damages and expenses (collectively, “Claims”) arising out of or based upon Lessee’s breach of the terms of this Lease, subrogation claims by Lessee’s insurers, or Lessee’s use or possession of the Equipment, including, without limitation, the preparation and testing of the Equipment (whether or not the preparation and testing takes place on Panavision’s premises), other than Claims arising out of or based upon the gross negligence or willful misconduct of Panavision.

15. Assignment. Lessee may not assign any of its rights under this Lease, voluntarily or involuntarily, whether by merger, consolidation, dissolution, operation of law or any other manner, without Panavision’s prior written consent, and any purported assignment in violation of this Section 15 is null and void. Notwithstanding any permitted assignment, Lessee agrees to remain primarily liable to Panavision according to the terms and conditions of this Lease.

16. Privacy Statement Applicable to EU Residents: Personal data supplied or provided by Lessees who are EU residents in connection with this Lease, and for purposes of this transaction, will be processed by the Panavision in accordance with the requirements of the General Data Protection Regulation (EU) 2016/679 that are binding upon and applicable to Panavision, as amended or updated from time to time. Personal data supplied by Lessee may be used for the Panavision’s marketing purposes. Lessee hereby acknowledges that the use of personal data will be pursuant to this paragraph and Panavision’s privacy notice on its website at www.panavision.com. If you have any questions or concerns or with respect to Lessee’s personal data, please contact dataprivacy@panavision.com.

17.1. Relationship of the Parties. Nothing contained in this Lease shall be construed to create a partnership between, or joint venture by, the parties, or to constitute either party the agent of the other party. This Lease is not for the benefit of any third party (except indemnitees or insureds under Sections 11 and 14) and shall not be deemed to give any right or remedy to any such party whether identified in this Lease or not.

17.2. Severability. If any provision of this Lease is illegal, void or unenforceable, such provision shall be severable, shall not affect any other provision of this Lease, and shall be deemed to be modified to the minimum extent necessary to avoid the illegality.

17.3. Entire Agreement. This Lease, together with all of its exhibits, constitutes the entire agreement of the parties regarding the Project and supersedes any and all prior agreements with respect to the Project, whether oral or written, express or implied. This Lease may not be modified except by an instrument in writing signed by the parties.

17.4. Successors and Assigns. This Lease shall be binding upon each party and its respective parent companies, affiliate companies, subsidiary companies, successors and assigns.

17.5. Attorneys’ Fees and Costs; Choice of Law and Jurisdiction. The prevailing party in any suit, legal proceeding, arbitration or other action brought arising in connection with this Lease shall be entitled to recover its reasonable outside attorneys’ fees and other expenses incurred in such proceeding or action, in addition to any other relief to which it may be entitled. This Lease is executed in and is intended to be performed in the State of California and shall be governed by, interpreted under, construed and enforced in accordance with the internal laws of the State of California and subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the state and federal courts located in California or the state of Panavision’s place of business with respect to the project.

18. Notices. All notices under or in connection with this Lease shall be sent to the designated recipient at the respective address indicated at the beginning of this Lease, except as a party may modify by notice. All notices shall be in writing and shall be sent by prepaid mail, by reputable overnight courier service, or by facsimile with a hard copy via prepaid mail.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have executed this Lease on the date first set forth above.

EXHIBIT “C”

Consistent with Section 14 of Panavision’s Equipment Lease Agreement, you agree for the avoidance of doubt that:

To the extent the Equipment you are renting is digital equipment, you acknowledge and agree that certain digital photography equipment systems, including, without limitation, systems utilizing “spinning disk” or similar technology and the data capture and storage apparatus used in connection therewith (collectively, “systems”), may be prone to technical failures during ordinary use which may affect the integrity or retrievability of your recording and related data (together, “data”). Performance of such systems and proper capture of your data can be optimized only through timely review of all of your data as is it captured by technicians experienced in the use of such systems but cannot be guaranteed and may not be uninterrupted or error free. Panavision strongly recommends that you engage such experienced technicians to protect your data, provided that you acknowledge that no advice, guidance or information provided to you by Panavision with respect to such systems, any other Equipment or otherwise shall create any representation or warranty not expressly made herein or in Panavision’s Equipment Lease Agreement.

If any Equipment, including such systems, is returned to Panavision still containing any of your visual or audiovisual content or other data, you expressly acknowledge that in the ordinary course of its business Panavision will clear any and all such content or data from such systems or other Equipment immediately following the end of the rental period for such systems or other Equipment in order to maintain and prepare the systems for subsequent rentals. Panavision shall have no obligation or liability for taking, or failing to take, any action with respect to such content or data including without limitation, maintaining or safeguarding such content or its confidentiality or delivering it to you. Accordingly, you agree that you shall back up all of your data at your earliest convenience throughout the filming process and that you are solely responsible for protection and back up of your data.

Since you acknowledge that the loss that you may incur by reason of faulty Equipment or a malfunction of Equipment, including in each case, the systems, could far exceed the rental price for the Equipment and that it is not economically feasible for Panavision to assume responsibility for such loss (e.g., out of focus shots, scratched film, incorrectly exposed negative, damage to or loss of your data), you acknowledge that Panavision shall have no liability or responsibility, whether direct, indirect, consequential or otherwise, for any such loss or damage, including that Panavision shall not be liable or responsible for recreating all or any portion of any picture, original artwork or design.

Appendix Z: Film Festivals & Distribution Plan

Film Festivals
I have already submitted a cut of the music video to the New Orleans Film Festival. They have screened music videos that were shot in New Orleans before, especially those headlining black artists. I believe that “Just Chill” would be a perfect fit for the New Orleans Film Fest. It’s length and material seem right up their alley.

I have submitted this video to the UNO Film Festival. They can’t turn me down.

Distribution
Given that this is a work to promote a music artist and her work, this will be published online immediately. We plan to upload this through Jaszmine’s VEVO account and have it go onto YouTube. Through there, we will share the video on social media including Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, Tik Tok, etc etc.

I also plan to submit this to the Louisiana Film Channel. A local channel open to filmmakers to submit their work for streaming.

Ideally, this video is meant for me to pull out on my phone at parties and gatherings to show off my work to potential clients and collaborators.

I will also share the video on my website.

Just Chill

Directed by Dustin Foret
Vita

Dustin Foret is a filmmaker raised in the suburbs of the Greater New Orleans Area. His interest in filmmaking started when he first studied acting when he was in middle school all the way up until he graduated from Brother Martin High School in 2014. Then, he transitioned into film production in college at the University of New Orleans, where he received his Bachelor’s of Arts in Film with Cum Laude in 2018. During his stay in the Graduate Film Program, Dustin’s short films bounced back between dark comedies about dysfunctional family dynamics and character studies about broken people—all with a formalist approach mixing camp & surrealism. Before the COVID-19 pandemic hit, Dustin was in development of a 20-page, atmospheric psychological horror that took place in a nursing home featuring a protagonist with a fear of death and chronic waking nightmares.

Outside of his own works, Dustin frequently assisted his fellow classmates in the various stages of production—from producing to post-production. He’s shot, assisted directed, and edited other projects for weeks back-to-back. His work with alumnus Fabiola Andrade’s thesis “It’s Me, Sarah” won Best Editing at the UNO Film Festival in 2019 and went on to be featured in the 2020 New Orleans Film Festival.
