Explain

I am again requesting an indefinite embargo on my thesis. I appreciate the time that it was embargoed; however, my concerns have not waned over time but have unfortunately worsened. I had initially expressed that I am a first generation student and had never been notified that my thesis would be available on Google for anyone to see. Had I known this, I would have written a completely different thesis for personal reasons. I was never made aware that it would end up being so very public. Moreover, while I wrote the thesis with diligence and integrity, with it being nonfiction, it has unfortunately come to my awareness over time that some information contained within it isn't true. Generally, the thesis being so very public is causing damage. My professor has brought to my awareness that it is my work and I can have it taken down. I have attached my diagnosis of anxiety and depression. This thesis, which I was not made aware of initially being so very public, is exacerbating my anxiety and depression and I can not afford a therapist and can not afford the toll that this thesis being up in its current form is taking on me, as I am in a new program trying to focus and finding it difficult to do so. I apologize for any inconvenience, but I really need it removed. Thank you for your time.
