an appointment. On campus meetings take place in LA 217.

SPECIFIC STUDENT OUTCOMES:
In this online course, we will explore the basic principles of transferring meaning across languages and cultures. Students will learn about various theories and methods of translation, and develop critical thinking skills as we take into account cultural and political complexities inherent to translation. Students will apply what they learn in their own translation projects from their target language (French or Spanish) into English and vice versa.

GENERAL STUDENT OUTCOMES:
• Explain and practice the principles of translation.
• Become familiar with different theories of translation
• Become familiar with the general history of translation and translation theory.
• Recognize common translation problems.

ATTENDANCE POLICY
Students are expected to check the weekly schedule each Monday and to complete assignments and participate in discussions as indicated. No late work will be accepted.
VERIFICATION FOR ONLINE STUDENTS

To ensure academic integrity, all students enrolled in distance learning courses at the University of New Orleans may be required to verify their identity when completing exams or other high-stakes assignments. At the discretion of the faculty member teaching the course, verification may include on-campus proctored examinations, off-site or online proctored examinations, or other reasonable measures to ensure student identity. If students cannot attend an on-campus proctored exam, UNO partners with ProctorU, a live, online proctoring service that allows students to complete exams from any location using a computer, webcam, and reliable internet connection. Verification measures for this course include video conference meetings with the instructor.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES:
Students who qualify for services will receive the academic modifications for which they are legally entitled. It is the responsibility of the student to register with the Office of Disability Services (UC 260) each semester and follow their procedure for obtaining assistance.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY
Academic integrity is fundamental to the process of learning and evaluating academic performance. Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, the following: cheating, plagiarism, tampering with academic records and examinations, falsifying identity, and being an accessory to acts of academic dishonesty. Refer to the UNO Judicial Code for further information. The code is available in your student handbook or online.
