Speech Communication involves the ability to understand and be understood. One of life’s most important functions is the ability to communicate effectively with others. Becoming a better speaker involves learning to get your ideas across to others in an easy to understand, interesting way.

Numerous rewards await the person who can communicate successfully through speech. Improved self-concept, increased confidence, greater employability, and the ability to get along with others are just a few of the great benefits. FTCA 2650 (Oral Communication) is designed to help you develop the skills that you will need to prepare and deliver effective speeches. This course is geared toward the student who wants practical advice and hands on experience in speaking.
I am convinced that the best way to learn the skills of speaking effectively is by successfully delivering speeches. Therefore, I would like to welcome to FTCA 2650 and I look forward to see you obtain confidence in Public Speaking.
